

Inderpal - my learning journey

What I have come to know, is that you can be whatever you want, as long as you put your mind to it and along with the opportunities, resources, management and commitment Stoke Park School has offered me, I am exceeding, preparing and advancing the levels I want to attain for myself and my future.

Within my A levels, I really wanted to challenge myself and select different avenues that would allow me to build and develop skills in all areas as a way for me to later combine and utilise them in various ways. I believe that to diversify, automatically opens me up to more opportunities and professional platforms and there is no limit to skills and attributes that can be picked up on any course or route along the way. I chose to study Design as I have a creative flair and really enjoy being practical and hands on, which is why I aspire to go into engineering as a prospective career. I have also taken ICT as it felt it really compliments and integrates well with Design Technology in so many way, so it remains integral for me to be proficient in using the array of processes, programmers, systems and functions that the world of IT allows. I also study Business because I like to think outside the box because I have the utmost passion for an industry of work that requires creativity, technically, knowledge and the simultaneous use of so many skills and expertise but it comes with a desire to not only be the best at what I do, but to exceed myself and be my own platform, my own leader and boss. And this is quite rightly, what I intend to achieve in the future; to be the owner of my own engineering unit. This is why I felt Business would allow me to have an insight into how things work on the business side so that one day I to can implement what I learn to become that savvy business man. My time at Stoke Park has shown that I have so much more to offer than just a set of exam grades and academic credentials but that I have more self-value, self-belief and power to aim higher and make great choices which has now led me onto being selected for the role of Head boy.

Being Head boy for the school has been a special achievement as it has allowed me to network, lead, and represent other students and teachers ,to be a voice, an example to others and a real active participant of change and advancement of our school. This is so rewarding on a personal level but also on a social, academic and principle level. I am an example that my learning journey has been such a large combination of so many aspects such as good grades, creative subjects, work experiences and extra curricula that has now strengthened my future prospects and broadened my horizon of opportunities.

My learning journey will never end, it started at Stoke Park School and it moves further, onwards and upwards from here on, but all that I have accomplished and learnt from my subjects, my peers, my mentors and teachers, I will take with me and use to attain even bigger heights of success.
